Nothing endures but change” is attributed to the Greek philosopher Heraclitus. That statement is as contemporary today as it was in the late 6th century BCE. We all face change continuously - change in our personal life, change in our academic life, change in our work life, change in our family life.

Organizations also change. Phi Eta Sigma was once a fledging secret society with exclusively male membership. Today PES is recognized as one of the premier collegiate honoraries. Its membership practices and administration are held to be a model for other groups. The road has not always been an easy travel; however, the vision of PES has remained constant – to continue to promote and recognize academic achievement early in students’ collegiate studies.

The leadership of Phi Eta Sigma throughout its history has been acknowledged as exemplary. From the founding father Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, University of Illinois, to our current Grand Presidents Emeritus B. J. Alexander, Tarleton State University, and John Harrell, Indiana University, the unselfish labors of the numerous individuals who have devoted their time and efforts to PES are legendary among honor societies.

Today, as the Phi Eta Sigma torch of leadership again passes, I am pleased and honored to be the first woman to serve Phi Eta Sigma as Grand President. Another change that has occurred is the election of Tony Kemp, Mercer University, as Grand Vice President at the Executive Committee meeting in June 2007. Mary Jo Custer, Syracuse University, remains Grand Historian with Kyle Sessions, Illinois State University, as Grand Historian Emeritus. Howard Gray, Brigham Young University, and Marilyn Moore, Gannon University, continue as current Executive Committee members. Our student Executive Committee members are Leah Campbell of Gannon University, Linda Chu of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Heather Reif of The Florida State University. Our steady guiding force and right hand continues to be Grand Secretary-Treasurer Jack Sagabiel, Western Kentucky University. Jack is ably supported by the Grand Chapter staff.

The current PES Executive Committee certainly has large shadows to fill. Everyone is committed to continuing the distinguished record and high standards set by our predecessors. In order for this group to be successful, it needs the support of the faculty advisers and, most importantly, the student membership.
The infrastructure of Phi Eta Sigma continues strong and healthy. Chapter development and vitality as well as number of student memberships are at an all time high. We will again award the largest dollar amount and number of Grand Chapter scholarships in PES history. Planning is well underway for the 2008 national convention.

On a personal note, I want to recognize the passing of Sharon Harrell, wife of Grand President Emeritus John Harrell. While Sharon never served in an official Phi Eta Sigma role, she was one of our greatest supporters. Sharon’s quiet competency has been a role model for PES students for many years. She supported John in his advising of the IU chapter as well as with his Grand Chapter work and at national conventions. Sharon was a mainstay at the national convention registration desk. Throughout the national conventions, you could see her talking individually and collectively with students. As someone who has spent their entire professional career in higher education, I learned how to recognize true educators. Sharon Harrell was the consummate educator. Phi Eta Sigma will miss Sharon’s participation and support and grieves her passing.

Grand President Molly Lawrence is laying the foundation to expand our national leadership zone with the assistance of Grand Presidents Emeritus John Harrell, B. J. Alexander, and Jack Sagabiel.
Student delegates attending the first Phi Eta Sigma national convention in 1928 established the national Executive Committee. Since then the goals and work product of the Committee have evolved from convention to convention to reflect the times.

A fringe benefit to our Society fellowship is the special touch the spouses of the Executive Committee members share with our members and chapter advisers. This unique fellowship adds a special dimension to the national convention and off-year Committee workshop spirit.

A special bonding evolved among the spouses of the Executive Committee members during the first fifty years of our history. Especially during the past thirty-five years, this bonding has evolved into a loyal fellowship that has most recently included “The Three Musketeers.”

Convention after convention, Executive Committee meeting after Executive Committee meeting, The Three Musketeers have made all attendees feel welcome. The Three Musketeers feature Mrs. John (Sharon) Harrell, Mrs. B.J. (Lois) Alexander, and Mrs. Jack (Marge) Sagabiel, each of whom are very much in evidence at all Society functions, including the June 2007 Executive Committee workshop in Arlington, Texas.

Sharon Harrell passed away on August 28, 2007, at the Bloomington (Indiana) Hospital. Sharon was a retired nursing professor at Indiana University. Survivors include her husband of 42 years, John R. Harrell of Bloomington, Phi Eta Sigma Grand President Emeritus; two daughters: Kristyn Harrell and her husband Michael Stull of Oak Park, Illinois, and Kimberly Harrell of Bloomington; four grandchildren: Emma Harrell, Henry Stull, Benjamin Stull, and Julia Stull; one sister, Beverly Scott and her husband Raymond, and one nephew, Joshua Scott, all of Moreno Valley, California; and hundreds of successful former nursing students.

The Three Musketeers . . . are now two.

New Chapters Installed

Since the 2006 Forum was published, Phi Eta Sigma has chartered five chapters and rechartered two. Several campuses are in the planning phase pursuant to chartering their chapters.

COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON

Charleston, South Carolina
February 20, 2007

The College of Charleston is the oldest institution of higher education in the state of South Carolina and the thirteenth oldest in the United States. The College of Charleston, founded in 1770, is a public liberal arts college and is controlled by a board of trustees. The founders of the college included three signers of the Declaration of Independence and three fathers of the United States Constitution.

The Phi Eta Sigma chapter was chartered on the College of Charleston campus on February 20, 2007, by Dr. John H. Newell, director of the honors program and professor of history. Phi Eta Sigma joins Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Psi Chi, and Phi Alpha Theta on the Charleston campus. Dr. Newell is a Phi Eta Sigma member from the University of Georgia. There were 298 charter members.

Flowers for charter member Caroline Klutz from mom and dad, Janet and Banks Klutz, of Fort Mill, South Carolina, and grandparents Dee and Gene Bunts of Salisbury, North Carolina.

Congratulations to charter member Heyward Duffy from mom and dad, Jimmy and Larry, of Charleston, South Carolina.
Southwest Baptist University is a Christ-centered, caring, academic community preparing students to be servant leaders in a global society. The university is a four-year liberal arts university established in 1878 at Lebanon, Missouri. The university moved to Bolivar, Missouri, in 1879. The Phi Eta Sigma chapter was chartered on April 26, 2007.

Students are served by more than four hundred faculty and staff members, and the curriculum offers bachelor’s and master’s degrees in numerous fields of study. The university offers eleven departmental organizations and three honor societies to the student body. The president of the university is Dr. C. Pat Taylor. The chapter was chartered by Ms. Allison Langford, instructor, University Success Center.

Charter member Kristen O’Neal helped to set an academic standard for honors recognition at Southwest Baptist University. Kristen is featured with mom and dad, Pat and David of Wheatland, Missouri.

Southwest Baptist University charter officers include president David Kellogg, vice president Kristin Edwards, secretary Chris Dodson, treasurer Elizabeth Lackey, and chapter adviser Allison Langford.
Morehead State University charter officers featured president Rebecca Green, vice president Gregory Howard, secretary Amy Cummings, treasurer Elliott DeAtley, and chapter adviser (not shown) Philip Krummrich.

MOREHEAD STATE UNIVERSITY

Morehead, Kentucky
May 5, 2007

In 119 years, the sweep of history has carried Morehead State University and its predecessor institution, The Morehead Normal School, from one makeshift classroom to the high-tech world of Internet-based classes and a radio telescope/space tracking system that reaches from a campus ridgetop literally to the stars.

Today, Morehead State University enrolls more than 9,000 students from one hundred Kentucky counties, forty-two states, and thirty-seven nations. Morehead State University has hosted a chapter of Phi Kappa Phi for many years. The Phi Eta Sigma chapter was chartered on May 5, 2007, by Dr. Philip Krummrich, chairperson of the foreign language and philosophy department.

Charter member Hayley Hoyng enjoys her academic recognition with mom and dad, Fonda and Steve Hoyng, and sister Stevie, all of Morehead, Kentucky.
The team of John (dad) and Eleanor (daughter) from Queens, New York, helped to make the CCNY chartering very successful.

CCNY charter chapter leadership included president Eleanor Fallow, vice president Abhinav Kumar, treasurer Atira Kaplan, secretary Sandy Xian, historian Mandeep Kainth, and chapter adviser Michael P. Smallis.

THE CITY COLLEGE OF NEW YORK

New York, New York
May 10, 2007

Founded in 1847 as The Free Academy, The City College of New York (CCNY) was one of the great experiments of the young American democracy. Today, the oldest of the eleven senior city colleges is really a small university with four renowned professional schools and an outstanding college of liberal arts and sciences. Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma are among the longtime honor societies chartered on the CCNY campus. The president of City College is Dr. Gregory H. Williams.

The CCNY chapter was chartered on May 10, 2007. The chartering leadership was provided by Michael P. Smallis of the Division of Student Affairs, which falls under the umbrella of the Finley Student Activity Center and the Office of Co-Curricular Life. The center touches the lives of more than 130 student organizations.
The Virginia Wesleyan College chapter was initially chartered as our 234th chapter on April 22, 1983. The chapter was recently rechartered by Dr. Joyce B. Howell, Batten Professor of art history. The 300-acre campus is located on the border of Norfolk and Virginia Beach in the heart of the historic Hampton Roads area, the largest metropolitan area in the state of Virginia.

The college offers a steady supply of ways to stimulate both the mind and the adrenaline; at last count, students participate in more than seventy clubs and organizations. Honors recognition touched lives at Virginia Wesleyan College for many years with Psi Chi in psychology, Phi Alpha Theta in history, and Omicron Delta Kappa in leadership providing national recognition, along with The Society for Collegiate Journalists, who recently moved its national headquarters to Virginia Wesleyan College.

Charter member Alisa Crider with mom, dad, and brother, Cathy, Roger, and Daniel, and grandparents Polly and Al Greer of Norfolk, Virginia.

Virginia Wesleyan College chapter treasurer Rachel Fanchers is the beneficiary of family support from mom and dad, Cathryn and Kirk, of Baltimore, Maryland.
Founded in 1913, SUNY Delhi is a residential campus of approximately 2,600 students located in the foothills of the Catskill Mountains of New York. Delhi’s campus offers an 18-hole championship golf course, clubhouse, outdoor recreation center, arboretum, and nursery.

The chartering took place on Delhi’s family day and followed the Delhi honors recognition program at the campus library. Many parents were on campus for family day and then attended the Phi Eta Sigma chartering that afternoon. The leadership for the Delhi chartering is credited to professor Joan Erickson of the department of mathematics.

Family day honoree Michael Sloat was pleased to share his academic recognition with mom and dad, Gina and Brian, of New Windsor, New York.

SUNY Delhi College of Technology charter leadership included chapter president Aaron Crouse, vice president Aliza Rutledge, secretary Jennifer Corl, treasurer Kyle Hares, and senior adviser Valerie Outsen, with chapter adviser professor Joan Erickson.
Chapter president Michael Kwiatkowski, vice president Kate Harrington, secretary Nikita Minder, treasurer Natalie Catendo, with chapter adviser Dr. William Knox.

WESTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

Macomb, Illinois
October 20, 2007

The Western Illinois University chapter was initially chartered on April 27, 1973, as our 172nd chapter. Chartering leadership was provided by Dr. James R. Connor, university provost and academic vice president. The chapter was recently rechartered by Dr. William L. Knox, director of the Centennial Honors College. The featured speaker was Dr. Alvin Goldfarb, president of the university. The rechartering and reception was hosted by the Olson Conference Center.

Phi Eta Sigma rejoins Kappa Delta Pi, Psi Chi, Phi Kappa Phi, and Beta Gamma Sigma with active honor society chapters on the Western Illinois University campus. In March 2006, the university was ranked as one of the best value undergraduate institutions among colleges and universities in the nation by The Princeton Review’s “America’s Best Value Colleges,” based on student opinion data from a total of 646 schools. The student body has all the advantages of large public universities—accomplished faculty, modern technologies and facilities, and broad academic and extracurricular activities.

Another this year, local chapters of Phi Eta Sigma have reported their many excellent activities and projects. It is clear that Phi Eta Sigma, through its members, makes a valuable contribution to the recruitment and retention of good students on campuses nationwide. The emphasis on promoting scholarship, exercising strong organizational skills, participation in campus and community help projects, and innovative programs to fit each local campus never fails to impress Forum readers.

Many chapters send in newsletters directed to local members, and these, too, are remarkable for their concept and their execution. Phi Eta Sigma members are making a difference at their schools and among their fellow students, and that difference is for higher standards and citizenship values. Members will certainly continue to make differences in their homes, their communities, and their chosen careers after they leave the campus; and these differences will be to the benefit of families, friends, and fellow citizens. The following are all-too-brief summaries of the reports of chapter of champions’ leadership, activities, and projects sent to the national office by press time.

From The University of Alabama chapter, Amy Bedingfield shares an overview of her year as chapter president: “As president of the University of Alabama’s Phi Eta Sigma Chapter, I am proud to say that I coordinated efforts for member participation in numerous community service events on our campus and in our community. My mission was to add to our chapter’s esteemed reputation on campus while simultaneously serving others. One example was our participation in the ‘Ask Me Campaign’ that took place at our university during the first few days of school. We helped set up these ‘Ask Me’ booths to help incoming freshmen get oriented with the campus and their new college lives. By providing refreshments, directions, and advice, we helped numerous students adjust to their new college surroundings. Later in the fall, The University of Alabama always has a food drive in competition with Auburn University. We proudly assisted with the ‘Beat Auburn, Beat Hunger’ food drive by asking inductees at our fall 2006 induction ceremony to bring cans of food.

“As a result of the devastation that Hurricane Katrina caused, I wanted to see if there was a way that we could give aid to our members who were affected by this natural disaster. It was decided that a $500 book scholarship would be the best way to help out, and we were actually able to award this scholarship to two well-deserving students. I also organized our group to assist with the ‘Quarters on the Quad’ Campaign. Here at UA, we have a beautiful space of land that we know as the Quad. Around the sidewalk that outlines it, we placed tape and encouraged students who passed by to donate a quarter to aid in the Hurricane Katrina efforts.

“For our final spring service project, I decided to coordinate efforts with the March of Dimes walk for premature babies. Upon learning that over two hundred babies are born pre-term or very pre-term in Alabama, we knew that we had to do something about it. I encouraged members to participate not only by walking in the event, but also through monetary donations. I am extremely proud to say that in our efforts to stop premature birth, we surpassed our goal two-fold and raised over $2,000, earning us an award with the March of Dimes as one of the top fundraisers!

The Bernard Baruch College (CUNY) chapter of Phi Eta Sigma entered the 2007-2008 academic year with a line-up full of activities and events for both its members and the Baruch College student body at large. Apart from its induction ceremony in the spring, its masquerade ball in the fall was one of its largest events of the year. For the first time ever at Baruch College, Phi Eta Sigma created and hosted a masquerade ball called “Masq’d by Midnight” as one of its philanthropic activities.
Not only was it a social event for students and faculty, but it also raised funds for The Hunger Project, a renowned nonprofit organization committed to ending world hunger in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Social functions such as this one serve to emphasize the importance of service, building relationships, and making the most of one’s college experience.

Baruch members were afforded many other unique and exciting opportunities to give back to the com-unity and develop themselves as individuals.
Those opportunities were made available through year-round programs, as well as one-day events.
The year-round programs included Cents Ability and The Scholars Program. In the spring of 2007, the chapter partnered with Cents Ability, a non-profit organization in New York City whose aim is to teach the fundamentals of finance to inner city high school students. Baruch students, chapter members and non-members alike, were able to volunteer as tutors to high school students, teaching them the basics of finance, such as establishing credit and budgeting. The Scholars Program, another of the chapter’s year-round activities, is designed to provide Phi Eta Sigma mentors for Baruch’s freshmen population, as well as for international students and transfer students, who may find it difficult to transition into a new school or different country. New York Cares Day and Hands on New York Day are two of the chapter’s most popular one-day events, where volunteers help revitalize New York City schools and public sites, such as parks.

One of the most important values of this year’s executive board is partnership. There are over 176 clubs and organizations at Baruch College; and through partnership, Phi Eta Sigma is able to reach out to a wider audience. In early October, the Baruch chapter joined three other prominent honor societies on campus to host “The Honor Society Gala.” Professionals from leading nonprofit organizations and some of today’s top corporations came in to speak to Baruch students about a variety of topics, from leveraging the impact of leadership to perspectives on the environment. Partners from Cents Ability were brought in, not only to talk about how students can get involved with Cents Ability, but also to stress the importance of financial education in the United States today, and the kind of impact that college students can have on such a pressing issue. The Baruch chapter of Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society looks forward to inducting new members in the spring and continuing a legacy of leadership, service, and excellence. (Submitted by chapter president Roseliny D. Genao)

At the induction ceremony held in early September, the California State University-Chico chapter of Phi Eta Sigma added ninety-five new members. During the ceremony, Dr. Jill Swiencicki from the Department of English, who was selected by the inductees for her superior teaching ability, was celebrated as an Honorary Faculty Member. She encouraged students to get involved and make a difference in other people’s lives.

In an effort to do just that the Chico State chapter has many upcoming events planned. Phi Eta Sigma members, along with other Chico State students and organizations, will once again participate in an Up ‘til Dawn national collegiate fundraiser. Last year the Chico State participants sent more than 18,000 letters to friends and family requesting donations for St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital in an effort to increase awareness about childhood cancer and help find a cure. They earned over $186,000, classifying Chico State as the number one fundraiser for this event.

Phi Eta Sigma members will also be participating in a Fun Without Alcohol Fair. Butte County elementary school students are invited to this fun-filled fair, which promotes healthy alternatives to drug and alcohol use via interactive booths, games and activities. In an effort to give back to the Chico community, Phi Eta Sigma members, along with other Chico State organizations, will “Scour and Devour” the campus and the surrounding community to rid it of any garbage—making it a truly beautiful place to be!

California State University-Long Beach chapter members were among the two hundred volunteers from the CSULB community who participated in the 8th Annual Make a Difference Day. This special event is the most encompassing national day of helping others — a celebration of neighbors helping neighbors. Volunteers performed exterior home repairs, painting, and landscaping at designated sites in the Long Beach area.

Phi Eta Sigma members continue to touch lives as tutors in The Catholic University of America counseling center. They also volunteer in the numerous campus-wide community service projects on and off campus.

The Florida Southern College chapter held its annual pizza party/membership drive in 2007, increasing the number of inductions by more than 30 percent over 2006. Chapter members congratulate chapter secretary Martha Yates on being the recipient of a 2007 national undergraduate award.

The 2006-2007 school year was fabulous for the Florida State University chapter of Phi Eta Sigma. In August, members started out the year by serving as ushers at Convocation, welcoming new students and their families to FSU. Phi Eta Sigma members also used this opportunity to provide information about Phi Eta Sigma to approximately one thousand attendees.

In September, the chapter hosted its annual leadership workshop, providing the new executive board and committee members with the opportunity to meet each other, learn about the workings of Phi Eta Sigma within Florida State University, and set chapter goals for the upcoming school year. Later in September, the chapter held its first yard sale, selling member donated clothes, books, lamps, kitchen supplies, and much more. The turnout was spectacular, and the chapter raised enough money to pay travel expenses for one additional executive board member to attend Phi Eta Sigma’s national convention in Austin, Texas.

Four executive board members, Dayelin Roman (president), Leigh Baker (vice president), Sheldon
Jordan (secretary) and Heather Reif (committee member and nominee for national officer) traveled to the national convention with chapter adviser, Chris Boyd. Each representative served actively in their selected convention committees, helping to decide the future direction of Phi Eta Sigma on the national level. Heather was one of only three nominees to acquire a position on Phi Eta Sigma’s National Executive Board and has already begun her role in helping to plan the 2008 Phi Eta Sigma National Convention. Congratulations, Heather!

In November, the chapter hosted a holiday card-making social, at which members enjoyed each other’s company while creating holiday cards for the residents at a local assisted living facility. This service project was started in the 2004-2005 school year and continues to be a popular event. The chapter’s newest service project, the “Tutoring Extravaganza,” was first held in December during the week before finals. Members of Phi Eta Sigma tutored fellow FSU students in subjects such as mathematics, chemistry, economics, and Spanish and provided peer review services. Participation numbers were higher than anticipated, filling all available space, and evaluations submitted by member volunteers and tutored students were positive.

This event was one of many changes and additions that have been implemented since the executive board considered the results of a survey that was conducted in 2006 to gain a better understanding about how members and potential members feel about the organization. The survey indicated that many non-members thought that Phi Eta Sigma was a socially-oriented rather than an academically-oriented society. Further, members felt that communication between the organization and members needed to be improved. The chapter responded by establishing a Facebook page, increasing e-mails, and generating flyers and chalking to promote events.

Phi Eta Sigma’s public relations officer, Amanda Meter, was instrumental in planning and organizing FSU’s 2007 Council of Honor Societies’ honors week, a week-long event with daily activities promoting academic excellence and FSU sanctioned campus-wide honor societies. At the first annual honors week Brain Bowl competition, Phi Eta Sigma members promoted the academic nature of the organization by winning the bowl championship and bragging rights until the 2008 competition. Go Phi Eta Sigma!

In the spring, due to the popularity of these events, the chapter repeated both the holiday card-making social and the “Tutoring Extravaganza.” Meanwhile, the executive board’s primary objective was to recruit and induct new members. To support these efforts, the dean of undergraduate studies included a message about Phi Eta Sigma in the letters of congratulations she sent to all new freshmen who had earned a 3.5 GPA during the fall term. Invitations were then sent to all qualifying members inviting them to an informational meeting at which invitees were provided with detailed information about the FSU chapter and offered a question-answer forum between these students and the executive board members. Further, the chapter worked closely with FSU’s International Programs office to recruit qualified students who were studying abroad in London, Valencia, Florence, and the Republic of Panama. These efforts definitely paid off as reflected by achieving a record 907 new inductees.

The 2007 Induction Ceremony was elegant and moving, thanks largely to the guest speaker for the evening from the Center for Civic Education and Service, Dr. Laura Osteen. The ceremony was followed by a reception with elegant hors d’oeuvres and live entertainment from the Sarah Mac Band. You can view the event at https://campus.fsu.edu/bbcswebdav/organizations/Phi%20Eta%20Sigma%20Videos/2007%20Induction%20Ceremony.m4v.

FORUM of Phi Eta Sigma, Volume LXXVIII, 2008 21
A Phi Eta Sigma general meeting was held one week after the induction ceremony to provide the newly inducted members with plans for the upcoming school year and encourage them to get involved.

During the chapter’s weekly summer 2007 meetings, a tentative calendar for the 2007-08 school year was set, a new service project idea was explored, and the scrapbooks and library display were updated. Members who participated in these meetings also planned the chapter’s involvement in FSU’s first “Luau” in collaboration with University Libraries, Thagard Student Health Center, and over a dozen more university departments and organizations. Event-goers and members enjoyed tropical refreshments and friendly limbo competition at this lighthearted event, all while receiving valuable information from many campus departments and organizations. The chapter members hope that these efforts will allow another successful year for Phi Eta Sigma at FSU in 2007-08. (Submitted by Meredith Hager, edited by Leigh Baker)

Phi Eta Sigma had always been a power on the Gannon University campus, but this year the executive board took it to new levels. Very few opportunities for campus-wide service were missed, some were invented, and luster was added to the Phi Eta Sigma name. The chapter held fall and spring blood drives that were more successful than ever before. They were an amazing benefit to the community, since the receiving blood bank is the only one that solely benefits the Erie, Pennsylvania, area. Members participated in a park cleanup that included pulling up asphalt from a runoff area and clearing invasive species of plant life. They learned about the ecology of the area and just why it is so important to keep it free of pollutants, biological or otherwise. Some other service projects included helping at Habitat for Humanity and L’Arche, Christmas caroling at an elderly care home, collecting canned food and non-perishable items for the needy, participating in Box City and collecting money for the homeless, and participating in Relay for Life to raise money to find a cure for cancer.

Pheta Sigma strengthens the sense of community within the Gannon group and on campus. Events such as a New Year’s party after Christmas break, a potluck dinner with the honors program, and a tailgate party with a Phi Eta Sigma group from a rival school were great social events. The tailgate party was especially successful because it created a community between two schools. One of the things occasionally missing in an honor society is the word “fun.” The chapter tried to reinsert it and adjust the common view of an honor society to one that incorporates a strong sense of community and has an appreciation for enjoyment, service, and academics.

The achievements of any Phi Eta Sigma chapter are a tribute to the national chapter itself and all other chapters nationwide. The attention to community, both in interpersonal relations within the chapter and in duty to the world around us, contributed greatly to the Gannon chapter’s success. Members are encouraged to follow the example and help society by building community, one chapter at a time.

The Hofstra University chapter enjoyed another great academic year. During the 2006 fall semester, members participated in the Breast Cancer Walk at Jones Beach. They hosted the first of two Bowl-a-Thons, this one raising money for the Mary Brennan Inn, a soup kitchen near the university. To wrap up the semester, they had a Band Showcase, which featured some of Hofstra’s best musical talent, all in an effort to support the VH1 Save the Music Foundation. The spring semester ushered in the second Bowl-a-Thon, which raised money for “race 4 a cure,” an organization founded by a Hofstra alumnus who lost her father to brain cancer. The chapter finished off the semester with an “End of Year Dinner” to send off its wonderful members who were graduating and turn over the reins to a new leadership team. The chapter also awarded fifteen local book scholarships.

The fall induction and dinner at Huntingdon College was held in September. The chapter continues to provide tutoring services in chemistry and biology at the Academic Assistance Center.

The Alpha Chapter of Phi Eta Sigma at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is continuing to serve the campus and community through new and exciting programs. The chapter’s philanthropy coordinator, a new position beginning this year, has started to raise money for Aid for Argentina. Members plan to raise enough money to donate a computer to an impoverished school in Argentina. They have also started planning a regional conference for all chapters of Phi Eta Sigma in Illinois. The goal is to increase communication among the chapters and to create new and innovative academic and non-academic service projects to benefit their communities. Each executive board member is heading a committee to help with various projects, including the tutoring program (on and off campus), publicity, philanthropy, and regional conference planning. The chapter has continued serving the students at Garden Hills Elementary School, donating over seven hundred hours of tutoring last year. The director of internal affairs recently conducted an online survey for members to provide feedback about the Society. The executive board is currently utilizing these results to make the Alpha Chapter of Phi Eta Sigma the best it can be.

Jacksonville State University’s annual Phi Eta Sigma induction was held April 4, 2007. About two hundred family members and friends attended and enjoyed the formal ceremony and reception that followed the initiation of sixty new members. The chapter awarded campus scholarships to seven members who have maintained perfect 4.0 GPAs during their college careers: Elisabeth Boykin, Jarrod Bundrum, Shea Nelson, David Robbins, Rebecca Vernon, and Megan Wright. During the summer, Shea Nelson spoke with incoming freshmen and their families about Phi Eta Sigma as part of the browse session at the freshmen orientation program. The University of Maryland, College Park chapter of Phi Eta Sigma started off the year in April 2007 by gaining more than a thousand new members at its annual induction ceremony. This past year, the chapter awarded more than $9,000 in local scholarships. Part of this money was used to award the local Helen E. Clarke Scholarship, an award for an exceptional junior. Last year, the Maryland chapter sponsored two very successful community service efforts. In September, a Katrina relief effort raised over $1,100 for hurricane victims. Additionally, members made over three hundred Halloween cards for patients at a local children’s hospital. Other volunteer efforts include making peanut butter and jelly sandwiches for the less fortunate and a teddy bear drive for the holiday season. Service events like these are held monthly throughout the year. Overseeing the Society’s operations at Maryland is a new-look executive board, featuring a president, five vice presidents, and a committee under each vice president. This model improved the overall organization and communication of the executive board and made it easier for the executive board members to work closely with one another.

Mortar Board and Tau Beta Pi scholarships also touch the lives of Phi Eta Sigma members. Each year, the Mortar Board National Foundation awards fellowships to members to assist in financing their post-graduate education. Samantha Spilka, a graduate of San Diego State University, was awarded a $5,000 graduate fellowship for use during the 2007-2008 school year. Mortar Board members Emily Ray and Amy Bedingfield from The University of Alabama received Phi Eta Sigma scholarships as full-time students during the 2007-2008 school year.

The Fellowship Board of Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honor society, touched the lives of numerous Phi Eta Sigma members with awards of $2,000 each for use during the student’s senior year of engineering study. Recipients include Mary P. Sprouse (Kansas State University), Maanisaad Shahriar (Texas Tech University), Christopher Oliver (University of South Alabama), Peter Degner (University of Idaho), Crystal Condra (Mercer University), Christopher Rethmel (Tri-State University), Rashi Grewal (New Jersey Institute of Technology), Mark C. The Penn State University chapter holds monthly meetings, often featuring a guest speaker or small workshop on topics such as graduate schools and résumé writing. Chapter members are involved with the Penn State Dance Marathon (THON), the American Red Cross, the United Way, the Second Mile, intramural sports, and the local branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. They also participate in days of service and other volunteer opportunities on campus. Chapter leaders are exploring new methods of membership recruitment and anticipate another large group of inductees for the 2008 spring induction.

The winter semester activities at St. Ambrose University feature the Superbowl of Euchre and the World Series of Spoons, which are fundraisers for the family from Africa that the chapter has been sponsoring since their arrival two and a half years ago. Each week chapter members visit the family to assist them with their daily lives and with learning English. Each year the chapter awards the Ambrosian Spirit Award to a faculty/staff member or student who embodies the mission of the university. The chapter also awards a Phi Eta Sigma chapter scholarship to an outstanding member.

Building Phi Eta Sigma pride among new chapter members at Salisbury University is an important component of the local chapter mission. To that end, the chapter is promoting name recognition and membership with the distribution of car decals and drawstring backpacks. Following the beautiful induction ceremony, new members are given, free of charge, a colorful decal that displays in gold and black lettering “Phi Eta Sigma, The National Freshman Honor Society.” Parents are given the opportunity to purchase a similar “proud parent” decal for a minimal fee. Additionally, new and current members have the opportunity to show their pride by purchasing drawstring backpacks with the Phi Eta Sigma name beautifully displayed in gold lettering. Chapter members are very excited to be able to display their Phi Eta Sigma pride and hope that these efforts will encourage eligible students to take pride in accepting the membership invitation, as well as encourage existing members to participate in chapter activities.

Shawnee State University members of Phi Eta Sigma do their best to keep up with campus opportunities by attending three student government meetings per quarter. Among its campus activities is the chapter’s leadership in the university’s community Halloween party for underprivileged children.

The Southeast Missouri State University chapter works with the campus chapter of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi in an ongoing program called “Born to Read.” The program provides a book for each baby born in the two local hospitals, a total of over 1,500 books per year.

Over the course of this school year, the Southwest Baptist University chapter will host four campus-wide academic forums.

The 2006-07 academic year was an active and exciting time for the Phi Eta Sigma chapter at Syracuse University. After holding an induction ceremony in the fall, the chapter welcomed over two hundred new members with great opportunities to become active in the Syracuse community. Such activities as a career center orientation, an interview etiquette seminar, helping to set up for the university’s annual International Thanksgiving Dinner, and decorating and delivering gingerbread houses to local hospitals were held in the fall.

The second semester brought even more activity with the launch of the chapter’s Web site, followed by hosting an egg hunt for the university’s children, as well as a day for students to register for passports, a Red Cross blood drive, and visits to children at a local hospital. The chapter also participated in a White Ribbon campaign against domestic violence, Kids Fest, and the Big Event, where members helped a local organization clean its garage and yard.

The year was topped off by the election of new officers, the design of a 20th anniversary T-shirt, and distribution of graduation cords to several senior Phi Eta Sigma members. Two members of the Syracuse chapter were recipients of Phi Eta Sigma national scholarships.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville chapter showed its true “volunteer spirit” by participating in area service projects throughout the year. Students began the fall semester by entering a team in the city’s “Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure”. In December, members sponsored gifts for children in need through The Angel Tree, Inc., a Knoxville-based agency. The group promoted awareness for heart disease by collecting money for “Go Red for Women” in February. All proceeds were donated to the American Heart Association. The chapter grew in April as current members welcomed over four hundred new inductees. Finally, the school year ended with River Rescue, a local effort to beautify the Tennessee River.

The Tennessee State University chapter of Phi Eta Sigma continues to offer tutoring to campus students, as well as students at nearby McKissack Elementary-Middle School. Chapter members also represent the Society during homecoming festivities.

The University of Toledo chapter meets every two weeks and touches needy lives with various projects such as the delivery of mobile meals, fundraising for the Relay for Life program, and a dance marathon to fund youth activities. On Saturday March 24, 2007, the Mercer University chapter of Phi Eta Sigma celebrated seventy-five years of honors recognition for its academically motivated students.

The Mercer Institute, named for minister Dr. Jesse Mercer, was founded on January 14, 1833, with thirty-nine students in attendance. The original intention for establishing the university was for the training of theological and classical school students. Since 1833 the university has evolved into one of the leading universities in America.

Approximately one hundred years after the Mercer University founding, March 26, 1932, to be specific, the Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society chartered a chapter on the campus. Just prior to chartering the thirty-second Phi Eta Sigma campus chapter at Mercer University that spring, the Society chartered chapters at LSU and Duke. Shortly thereafter, the Northwestern University chapter was chartered.

The Mercer University chartering and banquet was held at the Dempsey Hotel and directed by Grand Secretary G. Herbert Smith of the University of...
Illinois. Dean John B. Clark and Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the university, provided the Mercer University chartering leadership.

From a modest beginning in 1833 with thirty-nine students, Mercer University now touches the lives of approximately 7,500 students through at least fifteen nationally accredited programs of study. In the meantime, Phi Eta Sigma has grown from a chartering membership of seventy-six in 1923 to a national organization with 357 chartered chapters and more than 950,000 initiated members.

A Founders Fund scholarship recipient for 2006-07, Christy Webb, is keeping the Mercer University tradition for national academic excellence alive and well. Chapter adviser Tony Kemp is serving with distinction on the ten-person Phi Eta Sigma Executive Committee after being elected by the student delegates attending the 2006 national convention.

Chapter president Yasmen Srour served as master of ceremonies for the chapter’s 75th anniversary celebration, and chapter secretary Mahsa Hlydari delivered the invocation. A formal dinner was served to the two hundred honorees and their loved ones. Special music selections were presented by the Mercer University Men’s Chorus, Dr. John E. Simons, conductor. Senior adviser Christy Webb introduced university president Dr. William Underwood, who extended greetings and congratulations to all attendees and guests. Jack Sagabiel, Grand Secretary-Treasurer, extended best wishes from the Executive Committee and chapter advisers of Phi Eta Sigma. Dr. C. Jay Pendleton, associate vice president for academic and advising services, presented final remarks.

Mercer University President William Underwood touches lives.
Student Members of the Executive Committee

Student delegates and chapter advisers convened at the University of Illinois on November 23, 1928, for the first national convention of Phi Eta Sigma. A unique strength began to evolve for our Society with that first convention. That strength was the realization by student delegates that real accomplishments are measured by responsibility. Phi Eta Sigma has become the beneficiary of this continuing responsibility.

This strength continues and perpetuates itself today through the vitality of student members elected to the Executive Committee. The 1970 Louisiana State University Convention amended the constitution to add a student to the committee and elected Larry Jones of Southern Illinois University, who served until our Golden Fiftieth Anniversary Convention in 1973, hosted by the University of Illinois.

At the Auburn University Convention in 1974, the constitution was again amended to provide two student members; and the 1980 University of Florida Convention increased this number to three. From the beginning, Phi Eta Sigma has placed faith in the good judgment of its student members and has found that faith to be fully justified.

The Nominations Committee of the 2006 Austin Convention recommended a team of three student leaders for election to the Executive Committee. Meet these elected student leaders, review their credentials, and you will appreciate the strengths of our society.

About our 2006-2008 Student Members of the Executive Committee—

Leah Campbell is a biology major at Gannon University in Erie, Pennsylvania. She has served her Phi Eta Sigma chapter as secretary and as a delegate to the 2006 national convention in Austin, Texas, where she was elected as a student member of the Executive Committee. Leah is a member of Beta Beta Beta (biology honor society) and Gamma Sigma Epsilon (chemistry honor society), serves as a lab assistant in the Biology Department, and researches, along with the Gannon faculty, the health of Lake Erie.

Linda Chu attends UCLA in Los Angeles, California, where she majors in political science and international development studies. Through her community involvement on and off campus, Linda has dedicated her life to public service—bettering the lives of others. Linda currently serves as the youngest appointed commissioner in her hometown, mentors incoming students as a resident assistant, interns at the United States Attorney’s Office, and helps students pursue academic success as an undergraduate teaching assistant in the UCLA Department of Education.

Heather Reif, who attends The Florida State University, is an entrepreneurship and management major and a biology and chemistry minor. She plans to pursue her goal of becoming an orthodontist. She serves as the FSU chapter public relations chairperson, assisting in the organization and advertisement of all local chapter events. Heather is Webmaster for the campus Pre-Dental Society chapter and volunteers at the Leon County Health Clinic and the Leon County Humane Society.
As a member of Phi Eta Sigma you have already begun to pave a road to academic excellence. By maintaining a grade point average of 3.5 or higher and representing the top 20 percent of your class, you have separated yourself from the average student and have demonstrated an ability to succeed in the collegiate environment as a freshman. As you approach your sophomore and junior year, classes become more focused and standards are raised, and it is important to continue paving that road to academic excellence. If you continue to work hard and are involved on your campus, you may have the opportunity to become a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Omicron Delta Kappa (OΔK), “The National Leadership Honor Society” for college students, recognizes and encourages superior scholarship, leadership and exemplary character. Membership in OΔK is a mark of highest distinction and honor. Omicron Delta Kappa values and encourages members to remain active in campus politics, in upholding spiritual and moral values, and in rendering service to the campus and community.

Omicron Delta Kappa was founded on December 3, 1914, at Washington and Lee University in Richmond, Virginia. Fifteen student and faculty leaders formulated the idea that leadership of exceptional quality and versatility in college should be recognized, that representatives in all phases of college life should cooperate in worthwhile endeavors, and outstanding students, faculty and administrators should meet on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness. OΔK was the first college honor society of a national scope to give recognition for meritorious leadership and service in extracurricular activities and to encourage development of general campus citizenship. In nearly one hundred years, the organization has expanded to over three hundred colleges and universities across the United States.

Becoming a member of Omicron Delta Kappa is not guaranteed simply by having a certain grade point average. Membership is awarded to undergraduate junior and senior students; to graduate students; to faculty, staff, administration and alumni; and to persons qualifying for membership “honoris causa.” Selection of members is determined by multiple aspects of student life. The purpose of OΔK is to recognize and encourage exceptional junior and senior leaders in all phases of campus life. OΔK defines the phases of campus life as:

- Scholarship
- Athletics
- Campus or Community Service, Social and Religious Activities or Campus Government
- Journalism, Speech, or the Mass Media
- Creative and Performing Arts
Omicron Delta Kappa has nationally renowned members from each phase of campus life including: singer/songwriter Sheryl Crow, NFL quarterback Peyton Manning, Former U.S. Presidents; Franklin D. Roosevelt, James E. Carter, Gerald R. Ford, George H.W. Bush, and CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite, among many others.

As a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, you gain potential friendships with over 250,000 women and men whose peers recognize them as scholars and leaders; recognition by those around you who have been selected as the very top men and women at your college or university; recognition by leaders throughout the world; and the opportunity to continue a lifetime of service to your college and community with fellow OΔK members and alumni. Omicron Delta Kappa also offers several scholarships, programs and grants including:

- Foundation Scholarships: twenty $1000 scholarships for outstanding OΔK seniors who plan to attend an accredited graduate or professional school.

- The General Russell E. Dougherty National Leader of the Year Award, a $4,000 scholarship, is awarded annually to an outstanding student member of OΔK for the continuation of his or her education.

- Maurice A. Clay Leadership Development Initiative Grants, which are distributed to OΔK Chapters (called Circles) in order to fund or reimburse leadership related events.

- Campus Leaders Today, Community Leaders Tomorrow (CLT2™), Omicron Delta Kappa’s signature program. This three and one-half day program is designed to prepare young members of OΔK for service on nonprofit boards of directors.

A total of forty OΔK members are chosen to attend and experience a “behind-the-scenes” look into the nonprofit sector. The 2008 program will be held in Washington, D.C.

As a member of Phi Eta Sigma you should view gaining membership in Omicron Delta Kappa as a continuation of your academic success. As you enter your sophomore or junior year, maintain your proven record of academic achievement, explore the opportunities of becoming involved with your campus and community, and consider the prospect of becoming a member of the “National Leadership Honor Society,” Omicron Delta Kappa.

Pride in Our Executive Committee Performance – Delivered

by John W. Sagabiel

The tenth Executive Committee off-convention-year planning meeting was held at the Wyndham Arlington Hotel in Arlington, Texas, during June 5-8, 2007.

The first off-year meeting of the Executive Committee was held in May 1989 in Louisville, Kentucky. Attending that meeting and still serving on the Executive Committee were John Harrell, B.J. Alexander, Jack Sagabiel and Molly Lawrence. Among the topics for review during the second off-year meeting in May 1991 in Nashville, Tennessee, was a financial assessment of the Founders Fund scholarship investments. At that time the Founders Fund was valued at half a million dollars and the Society at large was valued at almost three-quarter million dollars. Scholarships in 1991 totaled $42,000.

Chapter and Executive Committee leadership has provided the opportunity for the Founders Fund to appreciate to four million dollars and the Society at large to better than four and a quarter million dollars. The full and complete annual audit report, published for all to view in every issue of the Forum magazine, will provide specific values of all accounts.

The Executive Committee is pleased to announce Founders Fund investment income sufficient to award $250,000 in scholarships for the 2008-2009 school year. Graduate scholarships are all endowed. They are $10,000 and $7,500 each. The undergraduate endowed scholarships are $5,000 each, and the awards are $1,000 each. Founders Fund recipients are featured in every issue of the Forum magazine and on the Society Web site (www.phietasigma.org).

tative incentives, the last order of business was a point of personal privilege by Dr. Alexander. He expressed his appreciation for the support he has received from the Executive Committee during his tenure as the Society’s tenth Grand President. He then submitted his resignation as Grand President. The Executive Committee members expressed their appreciation for his long-time Society leadership and accepted his resignation with reluctance. Grand Vice President Molly Lawrence was elected Grand President. Grand President Lawrence called for a nomination to fill her former role as Grand Vice President. Howard Gray made the motion, with second by John Harrell, to elect Tony Kemp as Grand Vice President. The motion carried by unanimous vote.

The 2007 Executive Committee meeting was adjourned by Grand President Lawrence.
At the national meeting of the Association of College Honor Societies this past year, I was fortunate to present a talk about the shift in today’s college students and what that means for the future of honor societies. Using the framework of Howe and Strauss’s seven traits of millennials (special, sheltered, team-oriented, conventional, pressured, achieving, and confident), I discussed the much stronger relationship between today’s students and their parents and how that fits into the decision of whether or not to join an honor society.

Today’s traditional-aged college students, millennials, are definitely the most achieving generation in history. My research shows that on average, these students talk to their parents about one and a half times per day. They have higher test scores, they participate in more activities, and they focus on building a portfolio to “look good” to take them to the next level in their lives (college admissions, law school admissions, job market, etc.). How does an honor society fit into this portfolio?

Many honor societies are reporting that fewer students are choosing to join their organization. Here at the University of Florida, I have personally noticed a lower rate of response for three organizations I have worked directly with: Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, and Alpha Lambda Delta. Of course, there are many factors in this, but here are a few that I think are important:

1. The proliferation of honor societies creates some sort of “white noise” for the student. They are unsure of how to sort out the most prestigious, the less prestigious, the genuine, and the potentially not real ones. Accordingly, they choose to not join any.

2. It is crucial to have a credible Web presence. Your Web site is the primary way for students and parents to read about your organization. This applies to the national Web site, as well as any chapter Web sites. If it appears amateurish, then it will be discarded as not credible. Reinforce the message of the legitimacy of the organization online; link to the ACHS site and offer tips on how to sort out the “real” from the “fake.” Ask your campus to host a generic Web site about “Joining Honor Societies”; the one at the University of Florida is an example: http://www.honors.ufl.edu/honorsocieties.html

3. In most cases, parents are the ones who are making the decisions about whether to join, not the students. Be prepared to discuss the purpose and the benefits of joining Phi Eta Sigma. I would receive most of my phone calls with questions about honorary organizations from parents, not students. If the parents don’t see the value for their membership fee, then they will not join.

4. The logistics of communication with the student is not very modern. Most honorary organizations are still using direct mail. You should have a PDF application available online on your Web site for students to fill out and turn in directly to your chapter, so that they can be referred to that site when they lose the form mailed to their house. Students tend to not check their snail mail on a regular basis, or more frequently, simply choose to list their permanent address with the university so that all mail goes home for parents to sort and read through. Many students miss the campus deadline to join because the letter sat in the parents’ house for a month before the student sees it.

5. E-mail communication is preferred by students, but many universities will not release the e-mail addresses. Worse yet, many of the e-mails that are sent are perceived as spam (it might go into the junk folder, or immediately discarded) by the student and are ignored. Getting e-mail to be the best mechanism is tough, and each campus handles it differently.

6. Finally, ask your students what might work well to recruit more students. The response rate of students choosing to join your chapter is something to examine. Why aren’t more students at your school choosing to join your chapter? Often students are the best source of the “word on the street.”

Those are just a few thoughts for you in how to get more students to join your organization. I think that this is an ongoing discussion, and as our students shift, so will our strategies to keep the importance of the meaning of honor societies in higher education.

Dr. Jeanna Mastrodicasa is the Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs at the University of Florida, where she works with staff development, assessment, publications, and the Reitz Scholars Program. She served as the faculty adviser to the Phi Eta Sigma chapter at the University of Florida for nine years, recently stepping down to take a new position at UF. She is a frequent presenter about the trends of millennial college students at conferences and on college campuses across the country and is the co-author of the book Connecting to the Net: Generation: A Resource Guide for Higher Education Professionals, published in April 2007 by NASPA.
Picture yourself in Louisville, Kentucky! Old and new combine in exciting ways in Louisville’s downtown, offering something for everyone from long–established attractions, such as the Kentucky Derby Museum at Churchill Downs, to a more recent addition—the Muhammad Ali Center. Our convention Saturday afternoon entertainment will explore as many venues as our time will allow because we are special guests, and Louisville takes great pride in sharing its treasures with special visitors.

On the banks of the Ohio River, North meets South in a unique blend of style and grace that will set the tone for our Saturday evening stern-wheel riverboat experience. Two stern-wheel riverboats are available for our Ohio River outing. The Belle of Louisville is the oldest operating Mississippi River-style stern-wheel steamboat in existence today, as well as a National Historic Landmark. The Spirit of Jefferson is the Belle’s “baby sister” and is fully heated and air-conditioned. Among the items on the Executive Committee summer meeting agenda in Dallas was to lay the foundation for a productive Louisville national convention. Phi Eta Sigma is in the administrative and financial condition we enjoy today, thanks to the careful management required by the Executive Committee.

We will begin our Friday evening activities with a dinner buffet, which will include items to satisfy the adventurous as well as the traditionalists; however, vegetarian meals will be available at all times for those who request them in advance. The first official convention business session will follow dinner, after which committee meetings will be organized. Convention delegates and alternate delegates will have the opportunity to serve on, or chair, important Society administrative committees, including the Finance, Constitution, and Scholarship Committee; the Nominations Committee; the Future Directions Committee; and the Publications and Promotional Committee.

The Friday evening activities will include a convention highlight, the ever-popular ice cream social. This social provides the opportunity for chapter advisers, student delegates, and student alternate delegates to exchange specialty gift items from their respective campuses and chapters, such as T-shirts, pens, pencils, stickers, etc.

Saturday’s convention agenda will begin with a breakfast snack at the convention hospitality center. The second business session will follow; then our Executive Committee student members and other Society leaders will present workshops on a variety of topics. Committee meetings will complete our morning’s agenda. The convention luncheon will feature the introduction of a number of individual and chapter honorees.

In keeping with our national convention tradition, following lunch we will board tour buses for a narrated journey with stops to showcase Louisville as our special destination. A priority stop for Louisville visitors is The Kentucky Derby Museum, one of Kentucky’s premier attractions, which captures the pride, tradition, and excitement of the “greatest two minutes in sports.” Three floors of exciting exhibits grant visitors an in-depth look at thoroughbred racing and the Kentucky Derby—the first jewel in racing’s Triple Crown.

As we continue to maximize our valuable time, we will visit the riverfront area and The Muhammad Ali Center. The Center serves as a place to celebrate the deeply rooted values and worldwide influence of Ali. His dream is that when visitors leave The Muhammad Ali Center, they will be inspired to live their own dreams and to be the best they can be.

After our visit to the Ali Center, our next goal is to assemble on the banks of the Ohio River and board either the Belle of Louisville or the Spirit of Jefferson for a sightseeing ride, dinner, and entertainment where “The Past...is Always Present!”

Sunday morning will begin with a hearty breakfast buffet to be followed by the final business session, during which the election of Executive Committee officers and members will be held. Positions to be filled are the Grand Vice President, Grand Secretary-Treasurer, two chapter-adviser-at-large members for four-year terms, one chapter-adviser-at-large member for a two-year term, and three student members for two-year terms. Convention committee chairpersons and secretaries will present committee reports, and any needed housekeeping matters will be resolved by convention delegates. For any honor society to thrive and grow, everyone attending the convention must work hard at finding tomorrow’s successes today. This is the democratic foundation of Phi Eta Sigma and the justification for the Society to host a national convention.

The tough part of every Phi Eta Sigma national convention is the goodbyes. Many new friendships will develop during our time together. Before we start thinking about the goodbyes, let’s take first options first.

Louisville, here we come!

The Phi Eta Sigma Distinguished Service Award was established by the 16th National Convention hosted by Indiana University on December 6-8, 1962. The first recipients were recognized during the 17th National Convention hosted by the University of Illinois in 1964.

Members of Phi Eta Sigma who have given loyal and devoted service to the society for a period of no less than five years may be recognized with the Distinguished Service Award to be presented at the national convention.

Since the founding of the award, sixty-four members have been recognized for their devotion to honors leadership. Past recipients attending the Austin national convention include: John Harrell, Larry Mangus, Jack Sagabiel, Curtis Lard, B.J. Alexander, Molly Lawrence, Lee Johnston, Mary Jo Custer, Dana Carroll, Dick Pencek, Joni Burke, and Harry Shucker.
How to Nominate Candidates for Distinguished Service Awards

The Executive Committee of Phi Eta Sigma calls to your attention the procedures for nominating individuals for the Distinguished Service Award and encourages members to nominate worthy candidates. Statute VIII of our constitution outlines qualifications and procedures:

Statute VIII - Distinguished Service Awards

Section 2. Nominations may be made to the Grand Secretary-Treasurer at least three months prior to the date of the national convention by the officers of a local chapter, present and past members of the Executive Committee, former recipients of the Distinguished Service Award, or university officials in institutions where Phi Eta Sigma chapters are located.

Section 3. From candidates duly nominated, the recipient or recipients will be selected by the Distinguished Service Award committee of three members, appointed by the Grand President to include one member of the Executive Committee, one previous recipient of the award, and one member at large.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
June 30, 2007

NOTE A - NATURE OF ACTIVITIES AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of Activities

Phi Eta Sigma is a national honor society which was founded on March 22, 1923, to encourage and reward high scholastic achievement among first-year students in institutions of higher learning. Phi Eta Sigma is a nonprofit organization and was incorporated on July 1, 1996.

Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of Phi Eta Sigma have been prepared on the accrual basis. Revenue is recognized when earned.

Financial Statement Presentation

Financial statement presentation follows the recommendations of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in its Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 117, Financial Statements for Not-for-Profit Organizations. Under SFAS No. 117, the Organization is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets, and permanently restricted net assets. In addition, the Organization is required to present a statement of cash flows.

Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market with cost being determined by using the weighted-average cost method. The inventories consisted of the following at June 30, 2007 and 2006:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

NOTE A - NATURE OF ACTIVITIES AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Accounts Receivable

No allowance for doubtful accounts is provided as all receivables are considered collectible.

Income Taxes

Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Inc. is a not-for-profit organization that is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The organization is not a private foundation under Section 509 (a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Deferred Convention Expense

Conventions are held every other year and therefore convention expenses are allocated over the two year period following the convention. Deferred convention expense reflects costs incurred in the year of the convention which will not be charged to expense until the following year.

Nature of Prior-Year Summarized Information

The financial statements include certain prior-year summarized comparative information in total but not by net asset class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the organization’s financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2006, from which the summarized information was derived.

Functional Expenses

The cost of providing the organization’s programs and supporting services have been reported on a functional basis in the statement of activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services based on estimates made by management.

Fixed Assets

Fixed assets are recorded at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred; major renewals and betterments are capitalized. When items of property or equipment are sold or retired, the related cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is included in income.
Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Inc.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
June 30, 2007

NOTE A - NATURE OF ACTIVITIES AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cash and Cash Equivalents / Cash Flow Information

For purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows, Phi Eta Sigma considers all unrestricted highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. However, temporary cash and money market fund investments which are part of the organization’s investment pool, which is further described in Note D, are not included in cash for purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows since these funds have been set aside by either the organization’s board of trustees or by agreements with donors for long-term investment purposes.

Interest and income taxes paid for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2007 and 2006 were as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>June 30, 2007</th>

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Interest</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

NOTE B - VALUATION OF INVESTMENTS

Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Inc. adopted SFAS No. 124, "Accounting for Certain Investments Held by Not-for-Profit Organizations" in 1997. Under SFAS No. 124, investments in marketable securities with readily determinable fair values and all investments in debt securities are reported at their fair values in the statement of financial position. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets.
NOTE C - RESTRICTIONS ON NET ASSETS

Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Inc. classifies net assets as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted based on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. A portion of each initiation fee collected by Phi Eta Sigma is designated by initiates as a donation to permanently restricted net assets. In accordance with donor restrictions, interest and dividend earnings from permanently restricted assets are classified as temporarily restricted until used to fund the scholarship program. For the years ended June 30, 2007 and 2006, $2.50 of each individual initiation fee was designated by initiates as donations to permanently restricted assets.

In addition to these funds which have been temporarily or permanently restricted by donors, the Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society, Inc.’s Board of Trustees has set aside the following unrestricted net assets for the purposes described below:

NOTE D - INVESTMENTS

The Organization's investments are recorded at the quoted market value in accordance with SFAS No. 124, "Accounting for Certain Investments Held by Not-for-Profit Organizations". Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets in the accompanying statements of activities. Gains and losses and investment income derived from investments, receivables, and the like are accounted for as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted based on restrictions, if any, imposed by donors. Most of the Organization’s agreements with donors (including initiates) who have created permanently restricted funds require that realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments be added or subtracted to the funds’ principal balances rather than being considered income available for use by the organization. Realized and unrealized gains and losses on the Organization’s unrestricted long-term investments are reflected as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets.
NOTE D - INVESTMENTS (Continued)

The cost, quoted market value, and unrealized appreciation or depreciation on the Organization’s investments at June 30, 2007, is summarized below:

Anti-hazing Policy

The Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society does not condone any form of hazing. Hazing shall include any mental or physical requirement or obligation placed upon a person by a member of the Society, individual or a group of individuals, which could cause discomfort, pain or injury including, but not limited to, striking, laying open hand upon, treating with violence or offering to do bodily harm to a person with intent to punish or injure the individual, or other treatment of a tyrannical, abusive, shameful, insulting, or humiliating nature. Hazing is an action taken or a situation created, whether during Society functions or other member contact situations, to produce mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment, or ridicule. Hazing is also considered to be the creation of a situation, which results in or might result in mental or physical discomfort, embarrassment, harassment, or ridicule, including involuntary servitude, often called “personal favors.” Both individual members and the Society chapter may be held accountable for such activity.
History comes alive at the internationally acclaimed Frazier International History Museum as it portrays the history, artistry, and technological significance of weaponry and armor in the context of events that have shaped our country.
